

Arthur™ - Repertoire

The most important thing is for Arthur to have the right tunes for the person with the cognitive challenges. These tend to be songs that have special meaning from their younger, often teenage years.

Loading these tunes is easy and just needs some simple steps to be followed:

- Open the fastener on Arthur's back and gently pull out the black box to gain easier access
- Plug in the USB cable provided. One end into Arthur, the other into your computer. Make sure the power switch (I/O) is close to "I"
- The battery must be fully charged - wait for the red light to turn green
- Squeeze Arthur's left paw (The 'paws button') and the file system should pop-up on your computer
- You can now 'drag and drop' or 'cut and paste' your chosen tunes
- Finally, squeeze Arthur's left paw again, disconnect the cable, put the box back and close the fasteners.

Arthur™ - Energy

If Arthur starts to go quiet on you, it's nothing personal he just needs recharging. Open up his back, plug in a USB cable and he will charge up. When the red light turns green he is fully charged. Arthur switches off after 30 minutes of playing.

Arthur™ - Volume

To change volume, access his black box and there are two small push switches next to a loudspeaker icon. Push these gently with a pencil or similar soft point whilst the music is playing to find a comfortable level.

Arthur™ - Bear care

From time to time Arthur will need to be cleaned but if you get him wet he'll stop singing for ever.

There are several ways to keep him clean and pristine:

Method 1 – Vacuum for the dusty bear

If Arthur has picked up dust or grit, then vacuuming on a low setting will go a long way to revitalising his fur.

Method 2 – Baking Soda for grime and odour

If Arthur is a bit grimy and starting to smell a little (he is a bear after all) then here's a great way to sort it out: Put him in a plastic bag and tip in half a cup of baking soda over him. Seal the bag and shake it so that the baking soda gets everywhere it can. Take him out and wipe him down with a dry cloth, toothbrush, or vacuum to get rid of the powder.

Method 3 – Bear soap

Sometimes the dirt is too much so soap and water is the only remedy. However do not immerse him in water, nor put him in the washing machine. Either, stir your liquid soap and warm water in a bowl then take only the bubbles and rub them into his fur, or, put a soap and warm water solution in a hand spray bottle and spray on the dirty area. You could include a fabric softener. Leave a while then wipe down with a damp cloth.

... and finally ...

“Don't forget that a Bear's heart starts beating once you touch him”
